WHERE DOES THE COLOR OF RED WINE COME FROM?

Grape juice is colorless!

It's the maceration of the skins with the juice that gives red wine its color, which evolves during maturation and aging.

What influences the color shades of red wines?

- The quality of the grapes and their variety (grape type)
- The climate
- The winemaking and aging process

THE PROCESS FOR ROSÉ WINE IS SIMILAR TO RED WINE!

While the maceration of grape skins with the juice lasts 2 to 3 weeks for red wine, it only takes about half a day for rosé. This gives the wine its delicate pink hue!
